

THE Supporters of the DISPENSARY, No. 53, in Berwick-street, the Third House from Oxford-street, desires to acquaint the Public of the surprising Cures performed, deemed incurable by many Gentlemen of the Faculty, which can be attested by the undermentioned persons, whose names are here under, being living Proofs of the amazing Efficacy of these Simples, many of whom from a state of despair have been restored to a perfect health, viz: The Wife of Mr. Bullock, Master Taylor, at the Coach and Horses, in Brewer's-street, facing Poultney-street, St. James's, walked lame for ten years occasioned by a bad leg with great pains, now cured. Mr. Rowley, Brewer and Chandler, in Brewer's-street, three doors from Poultney-street, St. James's, with large deep holes in his legs, his frame most decayed for many years, after applying to many of the Faculty, and most of the Advertising Medicines in vain, now in perfect health. Mrs. Mary James, at the Cork-cutter's in Grafton-street, St. Ann's, Soho, with a fistula in her thigh, kept her bed for two years and a half, attended by many of the Faculty without relief, and deemed incurable, now by the Grace of God in perfect health. Miss Gayer, Millener, at Mr. Mattock's, Broker, in Crown-street, St. Ann's, Soho, with a rheumatic gout, with pieces of chalk in the joints of her fingers, with dreadful pains, nothing was expected but death, now in perfect health. The Son of Mr. Allen, No. 10, New Bond-street, Clock and Watch-maker, of an inveterate scurvy, his face, head, and neck were all over with a scabby humour which disfigured him, in which condition he remained many years without any relief from several of the Faculty, and many of the best Advertising Medicines, now in perfect health. Mrs. Price, No. 13, Colville-court, Charlotte-street, of a white swelling in her knee, with exfoliations of several bones, now cured. Mrs. Johnson's Child, No. 4, Rebecca-court, Well's-street, with convulsions and worms, cured. A Child of Mr. John Gray's, Gold-beater, No. 38, High-street, Mary-le-bone, of a tumour in his private parts, attended with a fever, now cured. Mr. William Price, Head Porter to Mr. Seddon, Cabinet-maker, in Aldersgate-street, of a shortness of breath and a consumptive cough, now cured. Mrs. Tams, No. 319, Oxford-street, of a violent obstruction and a nervous disorder for many years, now cured. Mrs. Claridge, in the same house, No. 319, with a violent flux and a great weakness, applied to many of the Faculty in vain, now cured. Mrs. Mary Suddon, at the Salutation, in Hertford, of an optalmic disorder, could not distinguish for six years black from white, now restored to her sight. Mr. Hunt, Sawyer, and his Wife, in Tabernacle-walk, Moor-fields, with an asthmatic cough, tickling in their throats, and a violent spitting for many years, now cured, as their affidavits will testify, sworn before the Lord Mayor. Many more extraordinary cures too tedious to mention.—The Cures in the Venereal Disease are not inserted on account of their great numbers, as they also require secrecy.

N. B. All persons labouring under any disorder, may be cured at the above Dispensary by paying for their Medicines only; (if they cannot obtain a Letter from any of the Subscribers) and those patients not able to attend at the Dispensary, a regular bred Physician will visit them at their houses without any further expence.
